How to do this activity:

1. Use Ready for Play and Learning to see if your child is ready to play and learn. Remember to use 5 Steps to Success as you help your toddler explore their natural curiosity during the activity.
2. Think of something exciting or fun that has happened to your child recently and engage them in a conversation about the event. As you talk with them, ask questions that invite your toddler to act out a story about what happened. For example, you might say something like: You went swimming and had so much fun! Show me how you swam in the water. You loved splashing in the water. What did the water sound like when you hit it with your hands?
3. As they act out the story for you, remember to also ask them questions about their feelings. You can do this by asking things like: You felt so HAPPY when your friend shared their bucket with you. Can you show me your HAPPY face. Then you felt SAD when it started to rain and we had to leave. What does your SAD face look like?
