How to do this activity:

1. Watch for cues and signals to see if your child is ready to play and learn. Remember to help your child explore their natural curiosity during the activity.
2. Show your child their Talking Box Book and point to each picture. Talk to them about what they're seeing by describing each picture. You can talk about what the animal and/or object looks like, what it may feel like to the touch, and what kinds of sounds it makes. For example, you might say something like: This is an orange kitty. It has soft fur. The kitty says, "Meow."
3. As you describe the different pictures to your child, remember to wait for them to respond with their sounds, words, facial expressions, and body movements. Once they respond to you, talk with them about how they're feeling. You might say something like: You're feeling curious about the red train and how it says, "Choo choo." Now you're feeling excited about the airplane you see.
